Craig T. Bailey, P.E., Named 2012 NH Young Engineer of the Year

Craig T. Bailey, P.E., has been selected by a jury of his peers from New Hampshire's engineering societies as the 2012 New Hampshire Young Engineer of the Year. This distinguished award will be presented February 16th at the annual Engineers' Week banquet in Manchester. The New Hampshire Society of Professional Engineers (NHSPE) nominated Craig based on his professional acumen, contributions of his time and talent in his community, and his efforts in promoting engineering.

Mr. Craig Bailey graduated from the University of New Hampshire in Durham, NH earning a Bachelor of Science Degree in Civil Engineering. His experience includes site design and surveying for private developments throughout New Hampshire and northern Massachusetts. He has also developed an expertise in computer aided design software, specifically Autodesk products, and serves as a contracted software quality analyst for Civil 3D. He is currently the director of engineering for a family owned land surveying and civil engineering company, Bryan L. Bailey Associates, Inc. in Gilford, New Hampshire. Craig's niche has become information technology as it relates to site design and surveying.

Craig is a licensed Professional Engineer in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, as well as a NH Surveyor In Training. Craig is also a National Certified Professional in Storm Water Quality, a licensed NH Subsurface Designer, and an Autodesk Certified Associate.

Craig has always made giving back to the engineering community a priority. He has been actively involved in the NHSPE since 1999, serving on the Board of Directors and the Engineers Week Committee. Craig has also been actively involved in the New Hampshire Land Surveyors Association (NHLA) and presently serves as the Website Committee Chair.

Craig is as dedicated to his community as he is to his profession. Since becoming an Eagle Scout in 1995, he has remained dedicated to the Boy Scouts of America, Daniel Webster Council, through participation on the Eagle Board, as a Unit Commissioner, and as the Assistant District Commissioner for Arrowhead District. Craig is also an officer on the New Hampshire Sewer Utility Committee for the town of Hudson, where he lives with his wife, Marcie, daughter Olivia, and trusty dog Maggie.
