

Jason J. Beaudet, P.E., Named New Hampshire's 2015 Young Engineer of the Year

MANCHESTER – Jason J. Beaudet, P.E., has been selected by a jury of his peers from New Hampshire's engineering societies as the 2015 New Hampshire Young Engineer of the Year. This distinguished award will be presented February 26th at the annual Engineers' Week banquet at the Seresc Center in Bedford, NH. The New Hampshire Society of Professional Engineers (NHSPE) nominated Jason based on his record of professional accomplishments, service to his profession, strong community service and involvement, and unrelenting dedication to his family.

Jason (Jay) is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts (Lowell) where he received both his Bachelor of Science (2004) and Master of Science (2008) in Civil Engineering. He maintains professional licensure in New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine and Massachusetts and is the current president of the New Hampshire Society of Professional Engineers (NHSPE).

Jay's professional experience spans over 10-years in the management, design and construction of transportation/highway projects that range from small rural bridge replacements to large-scale interstate highway rehabilitation and widening projects for various state DOT's and local municipalities throughout Northern New England.

Jay has extended his professional passion by being a leader in the engineering community through his involvement with the New Hampshire Society of Professional Engineers (NHSPE), and by volunteering his time and energy to the development of our aspiring engineers by mentoring high school students interested in engineering professions.

Jay has also been a strong leader and contributor in his local community through involvement in programs such as Leadership Greater Manchester (LGM-Class of 2012), volunteering his carpentry skills to Habitat for Humanity through the Manchester Young Professionals Network (MYPN), and has also been a regular volunteer at the New Horizons soup kitchen since 2005. In addition, following his wife's breast cancer diagnosis in 2007, Jay became a member of the Young Survival Coalition, regularly volunteering his time for a variety of community outreach programs as well as personal and emotional support to individuals affected by breast cancer.

Jay and his wife Jennifer reside in Goffstown, NH. He is a devoted husband, avid outdoorsman, and true servant, steward and leader in his community and to his profession.
